

Turnaround

Whether your business is merely underperforming, or spiraling toward bankruptcy, we can assist you in returning to profitability and growth. We'll guide you in reorganizing operations and assets, developing new revenue models and cost reduction plans, restructuring existing debt, and securing new capital for growth and expansion. In short, we'll reposition your company for long-term success.

You succeed because we maximize your cash flow, then we recalibrate the expectations of creditors to match your ability to service the restructured debts. We rebuild damaged relationships, reestablish trust, regain cooperation and make every effort to ensure that the company's supply chain is uninterrupted for future business. We believe that our approach provides the best chance for your recovery. Our practices have been proven over many years.

Turnaround Management often requires personnel resources that have not been available in your firm or who did not have a critical skill. We work with you to identify the requirement and source the individual on an interim basis to resolve the turnaround need. For more information, please see the "Interim Executives" page.
